“I'm a single parent who was struggling to keep my house and to take care of my kids. Extra bills from a medical emergency forced me deep into debt and a foreclosure sale on the home. Two weeks before the planned sale I met with Elena, and got her advice on my options. We ended up saving the house, paying just a small fraction of the remaining medical bills and credit card bills, and will be able to drop the second mortgage entirely.”

“My bank would not work with me on lowering my home loan no matter what I presented to them. My wife then lost her job, in time we started surviving on credit cards. Finally we received a notice of a foreclosure sale, the worst day of my life. Desperate for help we saw several lawyers; Elena Steers clearly was the most helpful and understanding. We stopped the foreclosure sale and we're on a low cost plan to pay off the rest of our bills over five years. I'll add here that we now have a close family member and a friend with a small business also working with Elena.”

“My financial situation had gone from bad to worse within six months. First we were trying for a loan modification. It required that we be behind with the mortgage payments...no problem, we were already at that point anyway. Then there was a "trial period" where we made adjusted lower monthly payments, but to our surprise the loan was not approved. We were then notified that we had to come up with the difference between what we had been paying during the "trial period" and what the original monthly loan payment had been...this pushed us to the brink. Then we found attorney Elena Steers, who was recommended by a friend. She clearly laid out our options. We saved our house, got rid of the credit card debt and we'll also be getting rid of our second mortgage. Relief beyond measure.”
